

AT THE EXPOSITION.

FACTS AND INCIDENTS OF THE DAY NOTED.

A Perfect Day—The Best Monday Yet—A Large Attendance—Streams of Visitors in the Hall—Much Interest Displayed in the Exhibits—Large Crowds Arriving.

"The best Monday we have ever had," was the general comment of the exposition officers yesterday. There was a very large attendance, both of city and outside visitors, and the scene in the buildings at noon was a busy and encouraging one. The cheap railroad fares are beginning to show results, and there is now no doubt in any quarter of the final success of the exposition. The stock of the company was bid for at forty cents by parties who wanted to speculate, and none for sale at less than par. Five hundred dollars of the stock were taken by New Orleans parties at par. If the promises now visible hold out for some still, in the opinion of some of the managers, he dividends on the profit side to declare.

There were several large and influential delegations from the east and north on the grounds during the day, and much interest was manifested by the manufacturers and capitalists, both in the cotton machinery and products and in the minerals and woods representing the wealth of the southern country in those products.

The pressure upon our advertising columns transfers in this issue notices of specific exhibits to other columns.

The Crowd

Now in Atlanta is greater than it has been at any time since the exposition opened. The accommodations for enterprising visitors are, however, so perfect that there has not been nor can there well be at any time anything like a disagreeable jam.

The trains on every road yesterday brought in their coaches full and more than usual.

Last night the streets and hotels presented an appearance of holiday gaiety. The trains of this morning will largely swell the already big crowd. By eight o'clock there will be a general outpouring to the exposition and one of the liveliest days of the season may be anticipated.

Yesterday on the Grounds

Was delightful. The day was perfect in the beauty of its sunshine and the bracing coolness of its air. All the buildings had a steady stream of visitors passing through during the entire day. The exhibitors seemed to be well pleased, and many offered articles for sale seemed to be having a good trade. The bulk of the crowd was, as usual, composed of visitors, there being a very sparse sprinkling of Atlanta people. It is hoped that the home folks will learn after a while what a great show is progressing at their very doors, and some pleasant day when they feel like it will step out and see it.

The Western and Atlantic Railroad

Has one of the finest exhibits on the grounds. It is placed in the railroad building near the Kansas display. Attention is attracted towards it as soon as one enters the building by a great fountain. The spray which descends from the jet falls over a cone of minerals taken from along the line of the road and they sparkle beautifully under the falling water. In the extensive display to be seen beyond there are varieties of woods, plain and polished, and all arranged with admirable taste. The show of minerals is equally fine, and is a great tribute to the country through which the road passes in "the quality and richness of its products here displayed. The soil of Georgia is shown to be capable of almost any production. In arranging this magnificent display, the Western and Atlantic has gone to great expense, but it has done credit to itself and the country through which the road passes by demonstrating what riches its soil contains at ready or easy be made to bring forth under the hand of industry.

Distinguished Visitors.

A party consisting of Col. A. B. Buford, president of the Richmond and Danville; Col. T. M. R. Talcott, general manager; Col. Wm. H. Palmer, Maj. James H. Dooley, Mr. Joseph Bryan, directors; Mr. Wm. Ryan, of the editorial staff of the Richmond State; Mrs. Talcott, Miss Emily Buford, Miss Gay Caskill, Miss Lelia V. Palmer, Miss Bessie E. Palmer and Miss Sallie P. Palmer arrived in Atlanta Sunday by the fast mail from Richmond. The party occupied two private cars. The Richmond and Danville managers will attend a meeting of the Georgia Pacific directors to-day.

The Executive Hall.

The magnificent bell just placed on the lower floor of the band stand in front of Judge's hall is one of the curiosities of the exposition. It is operated by electricity and will be used for regular exposition announcements and for fire alarms, should any of the latter occur. The regulations prescribed for the ringing of the bell are as follows:

1. Three strikes at 9 a. m. as the signal to open the gates and start the machinery.
2. Twelve strikes at 12 m. to denote the hour and to stop the machinery.
3. Three strikes at 1:30 p. m. to start the machinery.
4. Three strikes at 4:30 p. m. to stop the machinery.

5. Regular ringing of the bell announcing to everybody the closing of the gates.

6. At 5:15 the bell will ring to close the gates at once, at which time every person is expected to be out of the enclosure.

7. The ringing of the bell at any other hour of the day than as above indicated, will be the signal for a meeting of importance at Judge's hall.

New England Manufacturers.

The party of New England manufacturers, who accompany Mr. Treat, of Collins, Artemus & Co., arrived in the city Sunday night. The party were met at Cleveland by Governor Bullock, and on their arrival here by Mr. S. M. Inman and other representatives of the exposition and by Mr. L. L. Day, of Peoria, Illinois. They were given an informal reception in the parlors of the Kimball house, where they met Mr. Philby, of Augusta, and many others. They were taken out to the grounds by Mr. Inman, and at 2 o'clock had an elegant dinner at James's restaurant, with Mr. Inman as host. This morning at nine they will take a ride over the city under charge of the same gentlemen, and at 12 o'clock will be presented with some "relics" of the old battlefields about Atlanta. They leave to-night for Augusta and Charleston more than pleased with their visit to Atlanta.

The party came over the Kenesaw route, and speak in high terms of the mountain scenery of Georgia and Tennessee.

John S. Brayton, Hon. Crawford E. Lindsay, Stephens, Joseph A. Baker, S. C. Correll, Richard A. Borden, A. S. Correll, W. C. John B. Flint, James Waring, George H. W. Miller, Jr., of Fall River, R. I.; L. A. L. Ayer, of Rhode Island; Howard Sturges, of Indiana; Providence, C. Rhode Island; and several gentlemen represent and connected with the management of a large one million five hundred thousand, producing one hundred and ninety pieces of goods per week—say over nine yards of cloth—being the product of one of the spinners in the United States. They are the before named gentlemen, there Henry L. Greene, of Messrs. S. H. Greene

& Sons, River Point, R. I., manufacturers of the Washington prints, and Mr. Robert Booth, manager of those works. The works were established in 1825 and have a capacity of printing one million yards of cloth per week. The party came through from New York in their own special car, and are accompanied by Mr. F. H. Treat, of Collins, Artemus & Co., Philadelphia.

The Tobacco Display.

A MOST ARTISTIC DISPLAY MADE BY R. A. PATTERSON & CO., OF RICHMOND, VA.

The tobacco display in the art building is especially fine. In fact it is doubtful if the display made here was ever surpassed anywhere. It is artistic and complete and is much admired. The display of chewing tobaccos is particularly attractive especially that made by the large and well-known firm of R. A. Patterson & Co., of Richmond, Va. These gentlemen have at a great expense and no small amount of trouble made a display that does them great credit and is an ornament to the art hall. It is the largest and most complete display in the hall, their exhibition representing over 100 different styles and grades. At the back of their exhibit is a large glass case in which is some artistic work in tobacco that is particularly fine. In the center is a small cross about which flowers are twined. In the center of the cross is a rose. These flowers, as well as the cross, are made entirely of tobacco, and are remarkably perfect. The cross is enclosed in a large horse-shoe, which is tastefully ornamented with flowers made of tobacco. On each side are trees. The one on the right shows among the branches and foliage at the top a squirrel eating a nut; at the foot of the tree is a bird. The whole is a masterpiece of art. It can hardly be realized that it is the work of the hand on nothing but tobacco leaf without the aid of a particle of glue. The other tree is none the less artistic and perfect. In its branches is a bird of great perfection, and at the foot of the tree is a serpent. Other portions of the case are ornamented with bunches of grapes, clusters of apples and other fruit of the artist. The famous shell-road tobacco manufactured by the firm is shown in all the different styles of packing. Resting upon the show cases in the front portion of the exhibit are glass cases, containing a lady's bonnet, a lady's hat and a basket of fruit. The ribbons on the bonnet are of leaf tobacco, and are perfect in appearance, even to the way in which the fringe at the ends. The bonnet is trimmed with a rose, a bunch of grapes, and other imitations of bonnet trimmings. The hat is trimmed in a somewhat similar manner. The basket is made of tobacco stems, and is filled with perfect imitations of several varieties of fruits. The display of tobacco in show cases is especially beautiful, and the whole exhibit is worthy the attention of every visitor. The exhibit is under the charge of Mr. Dunwoody Jones, a courteous gentleman, and one who will take great pleasure in showing the goods in his charge.

Mr. R. F. Patterson is in the city and has spent the past few days in adding to the attractions of the display. Every one who visits the exposition should not fail to see this unique and tasty display.

The Texas and Arkansas Displays.

The Texas and Arkansas displays continue to attract the admiration of the visitors and to astonish all our people. They receive additions from day to day, and are now equal to if not superior to any in the building. In fact they show more of the products and resources of the two states than is shown by another exhibit for the section represented. These grand displays tell of an untold wealth that rests in the farming lands of Arkansas and Texas, and will take many people from old Georgia. The gentlemen who have charge of the display are kept constantly busy showing the exhibit to the crowds that are always about it, and if its beauty and attractiveness do not create a generation of exodusters, then Georgia may consider herself safe. It is made by the St. Louis Iron Mountain and southern, the Texas and Pacific and the International and Great Northern. The gentlemen who have it in charge are keeping a Texas register in which about forty of fifty Texans register every day.

Exposition Personnel.

The addresses of Senators Vance and Voorhees, delivered on the opening day of the exposition have been put in the hands of the general circulation. Mr. John N. Carpenter, treasurer of the Norfolk and New Brunswick hosiery company, at New Brunswick, N. J., and Mr. A. F. Libby, of H. J. Libby & Co., New York, were at the exposition yesterday, with Captain John Milledge as their accomplished cicerone.

Samuel Bowles, of the Springfield, Mass. Republican; Mr. H. D. Lloyd, of the Chicago Tribune; and Mr. Hooper, of New Haven, who are making a general southern tour, arrived Saturday night, and are giving the great show a thorough inspection.

Among the visitors to the grounds yesterday were Mr. Minter Wimberly, of Twiggs county, and Mr. George Duncan, of Washington, Georgia.

Some of the neatest and most interesting letters written about the exposition are from the pen of Miss Virginia Michie, one of the gifted young ladies of Atlanta.

Mr. Bowles, of the Springfield Republican, and Mr. Lloyd of the Chicago Tribune, enjoyed a walk through the buildings yesterday, and agreed that they composed a wonderful display. These gentlemen are going to Augusta and other southern cities after leaving Atlanta.

This week promises to be as notable for its lovely days as the last was for its rains.

—There are many Virginians here.

—Cincinnati will send some of her big men on the excursion.

Excursion Notes.

—To-day is a regular State road excursion day.

—A large party came in from South Carolina last evening—principally Charlestonians.

—To-morrow is "Cincinnati day," and will be a red letter occasion in the exposition annals.

—President Heild, of the Lawrence female college, contemplates bringing the young ladies to the exposition some time next week.

—The Floridians will have their day by their own request, on December 1st, when a mammoth excursion from the land of flowers is expected.

—The Mississippi editors write that they will visit the exposition in a body on or about the first of December.

—Hon. Edward H. Knight, LL.D., of Zanesville, Ohio, reached the city yesterday, and is at the Exposition hotel. Dr. Knight is the author of "Knight's Mechanical Dictionary," was one of the regular commissioners from this government to the Paris exposition of 1876, a member of the international jury, and has just finished editing the reports of the American commission, published by authority of congress. Dr. Knight is a vice-president of our exposition, and one of the shrewdest and most intelligent commentators in America upon mechanical and industrial progress.

—We saw in the cotton exchange exposition, in the Texas department, Mr. J. W. Park, of Columbia, Texas, who has a bee-hive and honey package, which is only to be seen to be appreciated. All who see it say that it is a bee-line to the bee business. Parties owning special working machinery will see it in making arrangements in all the railroad centers in the United States to make the hive.

—Frank P. Fayson, of Lowell, Mass., representing the Foss & Pevery cotton cards in the exhibits of the Williamson line company and the Brubaker manufacturing company, is at the Kimball house, and contemplates remaining through till the close of the exposition. These cards have a national reputation, having carried for the results made on Governors' day for Governors Bigelow and Colquhoun. A visit to the exhibit mentioned will repay all interested in cotton manufacture.

—Lunch encephalitis, at Public Comfort hall, has been on a boom for the last two weeks, having fed over 1,200 persons last week. The ticket system makes the record, and reasonable prices for whole some diet tells the story. Monday, the 14th, sets out 40 per cent better than any previous Monday. They expect to feed two thousand this week.

DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC

DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC

Endorsed and recommended by the medical profession, for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Nervous Prostration, and Convalescence from Fevers, &c.

GENTLEMEN: I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking spirits. At last time I began the use of your Iron Tonic, from which I realized almost immediate and wonderful results. The tonic energy returned and I found that my natural force was not permanently injured. I have used three bottles of the Tonic. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tonic nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the Tonic has not done the work, I know not what. Give it the credit.

The Iron Tonic is a preparation of Iron, Potassium, and Phosphorus, associated with the most refined Aromatics. It serves every purpose where a Tonic is necessary.

Portraits in Black.

With the revival of interest in antique furniture, decorations and ornaments, has come also a renaissance of the art of profile portrait cutting in black paper. In the good old times before Daguerre had discovered that old Sol was the universal artist, the features of our ancestors were preserved by cuttings in silhouette.

The modern artist in such work is far more adept in the peculiar tact of catching the true profile and preserving it for recognition. In the exposition main building, central pavilion, may be seen most admirable specimens of this work, and the most accomplished silhouette artist in America, Mr. J. Amos Abbe, is the artist, and has a national reputation for his skill, and may be daily seen at work cutting profiles from life. His portraits will be found most pleasing souvenirs of a visit to the exposition. Their cost is so nominal as to put them in reach of everybody. They will be found curious mementos and in many instances prove inestimable in preserving the features of loved ones who leave no more substantial portrait behind them.

A Dispute About a Lottery Ticket.

A special dispatch from Helena, Arkansas, says: Night before last, October 31, an attempt was made to assassinate Simon Silverman while on his way to this city. Five shots were fired at him from behind a tree, with no other effect than to frighten the horse ridden by Silverman, which threw him to the ground without injuring him. The cause of the attempt on Silverman's life is the legal dispute now before the New Orleans courts about the ownership of the lottery ticket which won the $15,000 prize in the Louisiana state lottery, Silverman claiming it to be his, and Clark claiming that it had been paroled from her. The ticket was taken from him at the muzzle of the pistol, and he has instituted suit for the money. It is supposed that the attempt on his life was made to keep him from prosecuting the suit.—New Orleans Picayune, October 19. nov15-d11
